Long Beach Airport
Pine Avenue
Long Beach, California

Long Beach Hot Zone, the City's FREE wireless Internet access areas have arrived.

In concert with our wireless partners, the City of Long Beach is proud to be the first city in the United States capable of connecting every building with high-speed broadband and one of the first to offer free public Internet access. This program is part of the City's commitment to provide cutting-edge technology access for residents, visitors and businesses.

How does it work?

The high-speed Internet connection is a portal that uses the wireless protocol 802.11b. Nicknamed "Wi-Fi", this protocol has become the industry standard. The Hot Zone is accessible by any computer, portable or hand-held, that supports "Wi-Fi". Many new portable computers offer "Wi-Fi" wireless capability as an option, and almost all have a PC Card (PCMCIA) slot that can accept a "Wi-Fi" wireless card.

"Wi-Fi" cards may be purchased at most local computer and electronics stores.

Long Beach Pine Avenue Hot Zone

Free high-speed wireless Internet access is available outdoors on Pine Avenue between 1st and 4th Streets.

Conveniently, Pine Avenue offers more than 20 restaurants with outdoor seating.

Check your e-mail, send a proposal or simply surf the Internet. This new technology has been designed to give you and your laptop (or hand-held device) fast connectivity. One hour time limit, please.

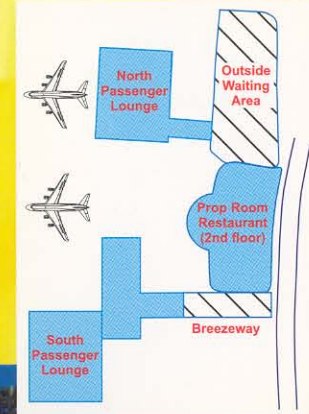

Long Beach Airport Hot Zone

Travelers at the Long Beach Airport are now able to access e-mail and the Internet free of charge, and with no time limit!

Network connectivity covers the three inside waiting areas, the outdoor patio on the north side, the restaurant and its adjacent corridor.

Long Beach Airport Hot Zone Coverage

New partners JetBlue Airways, Aquarium of the Pacific, Press Telegram and Long Beach Airport have joined The City of Long Beach, G-site Web & Consulting, Color Broadband, Development Tech, Intermec, and Vernier Networks to present Long Beach, California's second free wireless "Hot Zone".
